The case of two local men, Gosling v. Bush, regarding the ownership of a considerable quantity of grain, was heard before Judge Carpenter in Calgary on Thursday. Gosling's claim against Bush was dismissed, and Bush's claim for $27 was upheld with costs. Mr. A. B. Clow appeared for Bush, and Mr. Lathwell, of Lathwell & Waters, for Gosling.

New settlers registered at the King Edward this week are Mr. and Mrs. Hamar and four children, from England, and the wife and family of Mr. Geo. Thurston, Nightingale, also from England.

LOCAL JOTTINGS

Everybody take note of the weekly half-holiday announced in another part of this issue. The first will be on the second Wednesday in June. It only remains for the storekeepers to observe their agreement loyally, and no one will have any objection to make to it.

Norman Hayes, Jr., sustained slight injuries to his foot on Tuesday, while hauling a wellridr from Keoma to Strathmore. While he was shifting his seat on the drill one of the boards overturned, and he was thrown to the ground. Mr. Hayes, senior, has the contract for driving a third well at the Irrigation Headquarters, and has already started on the job.

Messrs Schultz Bros. shipped their two gasoline traction engines to Brooks on Tuesday. They have a contract with Messrs Hayden & Skene to draw gravel on the irrigation contract in the Eastern Section, and are employing the up-to-date method of doing it. The work will probably keep them busy for the best part of the summer.

A number of landseekers and settlers arrived this week. Those registered at the Maple Leaf include Messrs H. B. Buckner, Alliance, Nebraska; Ed. Huffman and W. S. Huffman, who went out with Mr. O. N. Gilbert to look over land in the Rosebud district, with a view to settling. On Monday Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Street arrived from Silverton, Oregon, being conducted by Mr. Hart. Huffman. They intend settling in this district. Other settlers staying at the Maple Leaf this week are Messrs F. Velleman and L. Goffroy, and Miss L. Velleman.

A fire alarm was turned in on Wednesday about noon. The brigade responded in fine time, and the fire, which was caused by an overheated chimney at Mr. Townsend's home on First Street, was extinguished without difficulty.

The second co-operative farmers' Auction Sale will be held on Saturday, June 7, on the lots adjoining the Town Hall. A good assortment of horses, cattle, poultry, pigs, potatoes, farm machinery, etc., will be offered. This movement undertaken by the U.F.A. Local deserves every encouragement, and buyers can depend on getting an absolutely square deal. It is not too late yet to send entries, and these should be sent in as early as possible.

Voting on the bylaws submitted by Bow Valley Municipality for the improvement of the roads and for hail insurance will take place on Wednesday. The Municipality have taken every precaution to inform all the resident ratepayers of the purpose of these bylaws, and there is no excuse for anyone able to walk or drive not voting. The measure proposed are for the benefit of the whole community, as has been explained in our columns before, and should be passed by large majorities. Full particulars of the bylaws will be found elsewhere in this issue. Don't forget to vote. Wednesday, June 4, is the date.

Messrs John A. McDonald and W. E. Brown attended the annual session of Alberta Grand Lodge A.F. & A.M., held this week at Banff. Among the appointments was that of Pastmaster Bro. Thos. Crawford, Strathmore, to D.D.G.M. of District No. 8.

Mr. Jos. Van Tighem, the Union Bank manager, leaves early next week on a three month visit to Europe. He will spend some time at his old home in Belgium, which he has not seen for twenty years. During his absence his place will be taken by Mr. J. F. Davidson, of the Calgary branch.

Professor W. J. Ellett, formerly manager of Strathmore Demonstration Farm, and at present Superintendent of Agriculture, C.P.R. Department of Natural Superintendence, has been offered and accepted by the Provincial Government the position of principal of the Agricultural College at Olds.

The members of St Michael's Church are requested to take notice of the special services at the Church on June 1st.

The first of the U.F.A. meetings open to ladies will be held June 28, and will be addressed by the principal of the Ladies College at Red Deer.

The Methodist Ladies' Aid will meet Wednesday, June 1st, with Mrs. Elford at the Demonstration Farm.

Capt. Bonnyman and Townshend shipped two cars of number 2 wheat from their Strathmore farm this week.

June 3 is the King's Birthday, and will be observed as a bank holiday.

A lady living near Nightingale, while in the Trading Coy.'s store the other day, stated that some time previously she had sent for a copy of Eaton's grocery catalogue, and after receiving it got a letter asking why she had not sent in an order. In reply this wise lady sent the department house a copy of the Trading Coy's advt., cut from the Strathmore Standard. There are two morals to this story—buy at home—and advertise.

SILK SUITS HAVE FASHION'S SANCTION

The Bulgarian Coat Gives Contrast

A Chinese Red Coat and Black Skirt

The Squared Peplum Is New

A Gray Girdle on Blue Bengaline

Of Roman Striped and Plain Silks

WITH the sanction of fashion goes the approval of women, for the silk suit combines the charm of a silk gown with the smartness of a suit, and there is a gratifying completeness in the coat-and-skirt effect.

In the new shade of Chinese red is the coat of the model of which two views are shown. The jacket is of faille silk, made kimono style, with half-length sleeves. A square collar is shown at the back only. Red-and-blue embroidery edges the front line and forms bands on the pointed cuffs. A pleating of white mousseline finishes each sleeve. This is worn over a white mousseline blouse touched up with red buttons and pipings.

The back view shows the comfortable fullness of the blouse and the square-tailed peplum—a new feature. A red suede belt defines the waist line. At one side of the silk skirt is a lovely disposition of drapery that radiates from the center of attachment. The panel under the slashed skirt is draped in horizontal folds.

Roman striped silk is combined with black in the suit that has a long blouse coat. There is noticeable fullness in the bodice. Kimono sleeves are used, ending in pointed cuffs, while narrow revers of black edge each side of the bodice. The peplum is laid in box pleats, and a royal-blue sash, caught in front with its fringed ends hanging far down, repeats the blue in the striped silk. The skirt is a straight one, with a slight drapery at the back.

The prominence of the Bulgarian colorings this season is featured in the figured silk coat that has a rounded peplum and draped skirt. The sleeves have inset panels that give fullness at the elbow, held in by straps of silk. A slanting line of fastening is decorated with two buttons, and a narrow belt with a loop at the side is the simple definition of the normal waist line.

Last in the silk suit story is the light blue bengaline suit with gray trimmings. The blouse coat has a pointed opening at the top, fullness being pleated in under the gray binding. Small buttons fasten the front and a folded girdle of gray silk echoes the strong note of the girdle. The skirt has a pleat at one side running down the side seam, which holds the drapery under it. Note the long coat sleeves with cuffs that are simulated by tucks. Buttons run up the outer seam, being of the silver bullet variety.

There is a decided emphasis placed on the coat that contrasts in color or fabric with the skirt. This idea is an excellent solution of the question of using remnants and will be welcomed by women who have an eye to the practical as well as the artistic.

The silk suit has supplanted the silk dress. It has fashion's favor and its present beauty well deserves its enthusiastic reception.

Weekly Half-Holidays

MERCHANTS ASSOCIATION FORMED

For some time past there has been a general feeling among the local storekeepers and their assistants that they should have more holidays than they have at the present time, and a little more relief from the daily grind, and the initiative was taken at a well-attended meeting held on Wednesday afternoon, in the Town Hall, when it was decided to hold a weekly half-holiday every Wednesday afternoon during the summer months, and also to observe the legal holidays.

A merchants association was also formed, which will hold meetings regularly every month, and practically all the businessmen in town have joined it.

These present at the meeting included Messrs A. R. Laidlaw, Thos. E. Wright, M. B. Garrett, F. McDonald, G. F. Butler, G. T. Berry, A. W. Miller, T. H. Eves, C. L. Miles, Jos. Van Tighem, J. P. Davidson, M. E. Shi, E. W. R. Lambert, John Mackenzie, W. Vickery, C. Lodmiller, C. M. O'Brien, and C. W. Chase.

Mayor Lambert took the chair at the opening of the meeting with Mr. Shi as secretary.

After a little discussion, those present being unanimous, a resolution was passed forming a merchants association for the Town of Strathmore, the officers elected being: Thos. Wright, president, A. W. Miller, vice-president, and the executive committee being G. T. Berry, C. L. Miles, and John Mackenzie.

It was agreed unanimously to hold a half-holiday every Wednesday afternoon at one o'clock during the months of June, July, and August, commencing with the second week in June in order to give customers good notice. It was agreed that at one o'clock every Wednesday several rings of the town bell could be given to notify the storekeepers that closing time had arrived.

It was also agreed to observe the remaining legal holidays of the year, being Dominion Day, Labor Day, Thanksgiving Day, Christmas and New Year. On the week when there is a legal holiday there will be no Wednesday half-holiday.

The membership fee of the association was fixed at $1.00 and it was agreed to hold the meeting regularly the first Monday in each month.

An agreement for closing as above was drawn up and signed, and copies will be printed and posted in all stores, with the signatures of the local merchants attached.

Rules for the conduct of the association will be drawn up later.

The weekly half-holiday will be of great benefit to the storekeepers and their assistants, and we venture to predict that after the first three months experience it will be permanent, as once it gets known it will inflict no inconvenience on the community.

It will also give a little stimulus to local sport, and make everybody fitter for their work during the remainder of the week.

Alberta to the Front

That Alberta stands in the foreground of Sunday School work is evidenced by the fact that this is the second province in the Dominion of Canada, Ontario is first, to employ a specialist on work with boys and girls in their "teens."

No State of the American union has yet such a specialist on their Sunday School staff.

Mr. Hugh C. Leggat is appointed by the Alberta Sunday School Association, the interdenominational Sunday School organization of this province. He arrived in Alberta a few days ago and met the Provincial Board of the Association on Friday, May 23rd.

Mr. Leggat is a Scotchman by birth. He received his education in the New England States, where for some time he was prominent in Boy's Work in the Y. M. C. A.

He came to this province from the Secondary Division work of the Alabama Sunday School Association. Mr. Leggat is a master of his specialty and the Sunday School workers of Alberta are to be congratulated on receiving such able assistance in the solution of their problems of leadership of boys and girls of the teen age. He will make his headquarters in Calgary, and his work will be under the direction of the Alberta Sunday School Association. His expert advice will be at the disposal of every Sunday School demonstration in Alberta.

Baseball Match

The first big baseball match of the season took place on the local diamond last night, between the Calgary K. C.'s, the Knights of Columbus team, and the local team, being so close to press time, we are unable to give details, but the score was 10-7 in favour of the visitors.

The K. C.'s have made the strongest showing of any team in the Calgary amateur league this season, not having lost a game yet.

Negotiations are under way for a game between Glendon and Strathmore sometime next week. If arranged, further particulars will be given by poster.

Mr. Wm. Hay was here on Thursday from Loughheed, Alta. He reports that it has been dry there this spring.

Mr. and Mrs. Phillips arrived from South Sea, Marine Wednesday.

Mr. Phillips will be foreman of the White & May drygoods department.

"It was settled. Jordan was his visitor out, and as far as the main article, the first article, he had to meet on the morrow. Morgastrof walked another couple of hundred yards, when he was lucky enough to come across a hansom just starting on its nocturnal beat. Morgastrof called it; but was surprised to find the driver's destination. He had forgotten his baggage. The sight of a half-crowns simplified matters; and by 9 p.m. Morgastrof was back alone in Henrietta Street.

In half an hour Morgastrof found himself for the second time that day at Richard Hanley's but the time he asked for Mr. M. Hanley if this was the man. "This way, this way," said Mr. Hanley in the small drawing-room. Mr. Murray Morgastrof. "Mand rose from the depths of a lounge chair, I greet him eagerly, and without ceremony. "How good you are to come, Mr. Morgastrof. You had better have news of my watch?" Morgastrof did not answer for a moment; strange unworldly thoughts were stirring in him, and he felt embarrassed. "Better than news; I have brought you the watch itself." Morgastrof, who was now in evening dress, took the watch and looked at it. It was a fine watch, and he felt it out to his pocket. "This is the watch," said Morgastrof. "Oh, it is so good! I never expected it. How good you have been about it."

I am delighted it happened to be in your hands, and I am sure it will be a success. Morgastrof, who was now in evening dress, took the watch and looked at it. It was a fine watch, and he felt it out to his pocket. "This is the watch," said Morgastrof. "Oh, it is so good! I never expected it. How good you have been about it."

Did your friend know for whom you were going? He required to know nothing except my will and Morgastrof's. He required to know nothing except my will and Morgastrof's. He required to know nothing except my will and Morgastrof's.

After the Sermon

An incident in the life of John McNeill is the star performer in a Canadian paper. At the close of his sermon a young man approached and said: "Mr. McNeill, I enjoyed your sermon. It was splendid, though having an atheist, I did not agree with you. Oh, you are an atheist, are you? I read the preacher, Ah, then I suppose you had read Darwin's 'Origin of Species'."

PUTTING CLASS AGAINST CLASS

Attempts to Make Western Farmers

Regard Canadian Manufacturer

as an Enemy

The Vancouver, B.C. News-Advertiser

expresses editorially

"Out in Saskatchewan the editor of The Grain Growers' Guide has been telling the organized Grain Growers how the farmers of the West are robbed by the railways, the banks, the manufacturers, the ship owners, and most other interests. This orator, who is himself a manufacturer of newspapers, and not a farmer, has been diligently trying to persuade the Western grain growers that they are the most injured men on the earth. Writers and speakers who address a single class in this spirit have a great opportunity. No people live who do not get their share of the gains, and the pie that men go about to show a class that they are chronically injured can always get a benefit.

The Western farmer is thus constantly taught to regard the Canadian manufacturer as an enemy. It is an easy lesson, because there are few factories in the prairie country. Nor are many people who, out of their savings, buy a few bank or railway or industrial shares. The Western man is not well acquainted with the modern factories that the Eastern farmer obtains his savings. He buys land and makes larger profits on the interest increment. His first home-own crop costs nothing. On his subsequent land purchase he has made large gains whether he titled the soil or not. The manufacturers of Eastern Canada have made nearly such large net profits on their investments as the class of Western farmers when they have made their investments. The stockholders in the banks and the railways have profited in many instances in the profits from unearned increment.

The manufacturer and the shareholder are more moral to work a harvest as the prairie farmer, who is neither better nor worse than other people. It is more moral to work a harvest than to build one, to buy a quarter section for profit than to purchase a crop.

"This special business of stirring up the hatred and jealousy of a worthy class of landowners against all other classes, and of the people in one part of Canada against those of other provinces, will fail and displease. It has no constructive value. In time the West will have its own manufacturers and transportation interests. When investments in land cease to pay the present large annual profits will be replaced by the profits of the manufacturing interests of the Prairie Provinces will seek to establish industries. This has happened in the Western Middle States, where there are now a great variety of interests, with corresponding opportunities for young men who do not choose to stay on the land.

"A quarter of a century ago a semi-political organization was formed in Ontario. It was intended to range the farmers as a class against other classes of the community, and for a time was quite successful, obtaining a considerable representation in Parliament and the Legislature. That sectional organization went to pieces, but not without one of its chief orators, organizers and writers had obtained public office.

No doubt there is political and oratorical to be made by the same process in the prairie country. But the farmers themselves are not after this and doubtless the same may be said of many of the leaders. The habit of appealing as members of an injured class to the class generally has been to acquire and pleasant to follow. It involves no sacrifice. It is one who may use any saying from the Bible without being guilty of any high teaching. No one who wishes to follow the line of least resistance will tell the following that they are wrong when he can get more applause by telling them that they are wrong."

Improving the School-grounds

HORTICULTURAL COMPETITION FOR SCHOLARS

An interesting competition, having for its object the encouraging of the children attending Strathmore schools to study agriculture in a practical manner, has recently been inaugurated under the direction of the principal, Mr. D. Ogilvie. It has been taken up enthusiastically by the scholars, and the results will be apparent in the fall.

A space of about nine feet in from the fence, and extending along the whole frontage of the school grounds, has been plowed and cultivated, and separated into plots of twelve feet, each 12 feet being set apart for the use of a scholar.

A tree has been planted in each plot these being popular and Russian will owever, and the plots are being planted with flowers and vegetables, varying according to the power of the scholar, who may whether he or she wishes in the alignment set aside. Each scholar receives seeds, and in many cases the implements for the purpose of planting also. Pizing to the value $25 will be given to the scholar for the best looking plots, everything being taken into consideration.

The prizes have been made possible through the generosity of Mr. R. D.

Pratt, manager of the forest branch of the Natural Resources Department of the C. P. R. The prizes, which are as follows:—

1. A basket of seeds, and a
